Old Business

Minutes:

The minutes from the September minutes were accepted with corrections to the dates.

Scholars Roundtable:

We have not compiled the information that we have from the tickets. As soon as the task is complete, we will present a report to the Center.

We need one person to handle the oversight of the workshops college-wide and work with Bill Ganza to publicize them. These would be open to faculty and students. Discussion followed on types of workshops and topics.

Tessie hopes to work with Phyllis Renninger to write a grant to obtain funding for future speakers so that the program can continue.

Planning and organization for the February event is under way. Tessie is working with some faculty. Quotes and photos have been requested and received from the Lavin Agency for Michael Ruse.

Tessie is going to contact Dr. Wallace shortly to see if his calendar is open for the February event. Jennifer S. will edit the ticket for the spring event.

We need to begin thinking about next year. The last topic that the previous Center membership had discussed was how technology is affecting the development of the brain and the social interaction of young people. Jack is going to assist Tessie with researching possible speakers.

Campus Workshops:

Robert requested an update from South and Downtown campus on workshops that they have or will be holding at their campuses. He also asked Davina if she would work with Jametoria Burton to help organize ILAS workshops on each campus.

Futures Group:

Robert asked if any members of the Center would be willing to serve on a sub-committee that he is co-chairing with Jerry Shawver. He will send out an email on this. Jack explained a little about the committee and what they are trying to accomplish.

Items from the Floor:

November 21st will be Capstone Day for the Faculty Certificate programs at Deerwood in B1204. There will be a lunch following the Capstone portion. There will be two speakers this year and Jack invited the Center members to attend.

With no other items from the floor, the meeting was adjourned at 3:07 p.m.
